

2012 01 30 Ray Rice presenting Erin Mentink with her ACWWA Scholarship cheque.

Erin Mentink is currently in her final year of the Environmental Engineering program at Dalhousie University. She has also obtained a BSc in biology with a focus in ecology from Mount Allison University. Upon completing her degree in the spring, Erin will be working with Dalhousie's Nunavut Wastewater Research Project as they pursue their research in northern wastewater treatment. Upon completion of this work, Erin will seek out employment in the Maritimes and anticipates the opportunities the water and wastewater industry has to offer.
